Thursday; Rivers Names
Woman Office Manager.

By L. A. FARRELL.

The Talmadge-Redwine ticket yesterday waited in vain for the blessings of Hugh Howell, democratic state chairman and erstwhile Talmadge Henchman No. 1, as foes of the ticket opened Atlanta headquarters and made ready for further assaults upon the Governor and his chosen successor, Howell was making a walk.

Chairman Howell was expected by Talmadge supporters to come forward with an announcement of support but the announcement failed to come, Howell stating during the day that he was going "to be busy for the next month entering the thousands of letters" he received urging him to run for Governor and, since the entries closed without his qualifying, urging him to bolt the ticket.

"I Will Be Busy."

Asked directly what he is going to do, the state chairman replied: "I will be busy for the next month answering my mail, and I won't have time to do anything else."

What he will do during the month is a matter which remains to be seen.

Governor Talmadge announced during the day that he would make his final campaign speech a week from tomorrow at Cartersville. He issued short statement in reply to state-wide mail Sunday by Senator W. F. O'Connell, a candidate for Governor, of Thomasville, and Representative John B. Spivey, of Emanuel county, supporting charges of Speaker D. Rivers, of the house of representatives, a candidate for Governor, at Talmadge was responsible for the failure of the general assembly to pass appropriations act at its last session.

In the statement, the Governor said: "I stated to them if they could not agree on an appropriation bill within the anticipated revenue of the state."

Cotton Tax Petitions Dismissed by Judge

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., July 6.—(AP)—Petitions of four cotton textile companies asking refund of $1,729,151.85 processing taxes, were dismissed by Federal District Judge David J. Davis today on grounds that the plaintiffs had not shown they bore the burden of the tax.

In dismissing suits of the Lincoln Mills of Alabama, the American Manufacturing Company, the Standard Textile Company and the Standard Spinning Mills, Judge Davis held that a recent amendment to the AAA required that petitioners for rebates on the processing tax was not passed on to consumers.

Judge Davis ruled the amended portion of the bill, contested in these suits, is constitutional.

17 Japs Sentenced To Die For Roles in Bloody Coup

Military Court Metes Swift Justice to Leaders of Brief Revolt in Which Three Elderly Statesmen
Were Slain in February.

TOKYO, July 7.—(Tuesday)—(AP)—Seventeen leaders of Japan's bloody February coup were condemned to speedy death by a high military court.

There is no appeal. Hence the 17, two of them captains in the emperor's proud army, probably will be shot within a matter of days.

With the powerful war minister, General Count Jichi Teruchi, presiding, the court also handed down sentences of life imprisonment for five conspirators and ordered prison terms ranging from 18 months to 15 years for 44 non-commissioned officers and eight civilians.

Sentences of 27 lesser offenders were suspended.

The charges were murder, rebellion and disobedience to the commands of the emperor himself, and by the punishment they meted out, the military leaders of Japan disclosed the strength of their will to stamp out the cult of

WPA FUND ASKED FOR WATERWORKS

Key Tells Shepperson of Urgent Need To Enlarge Present Capacity.

Atlanta's water supply, to be maintained at a proper level, needs a new setting basin and an extension of the purification system at the city waterworks, Mayor Key explained yesterday in making application for $605,000 of Works Progress Administration funds.

Mayor Key and W. Zode Smith, waterworks manager, called at the offices of Miss Gay B. Shepperson, WPA administrator for Georgia, and asked that this financial aid be given to relieve the pressure on pumps which are now working over capacity.

To meet the city's demands on the waterworks system during the mid-summer months, Mayor Key explained to Miss Shepperson, it is necessary to work all the pumps during the old hours to build up a reserve.

"We have taken the matter under advisement," announced Miss Shepperson, after Mayor Key's visit. "We are very much interested in the application."

More than 1,175,000,000 gallons of water were used by the city in June, although the present filter plants, with a capacity of 37,000,000 gallons per day, can handle only 1,170,000,000 gallons in a 30-day period.

Under the present 37,000,000-gallon-a-day system, 18,000,000 gallons are produced each day with equipment in a plant that is obsolete. To obtain that capacity it is necessary to keep the plant operating at full force 24 hours a day.

It is planned to add a 33,000,000-gallon-a-day plant to this present system.

Insurrectional Plot Discovered in Spain

MADRID, July 6.—(UP)—The socialist newspaper Claridad reported tonight that police have discovered a rightist plot to overthrow the government and establish a dictatorship "of a more or less fascist nature."

"Several hundred reactionaries were caught when the last touches were being put on an extensive insurrectional plan," Claridad said.

The newspaper charged leading employers with aiding the fascist and also with placing obstacles in the road of a solution to the nationwide strike.

EDEN TO DECLINE FURTHER REQUEST FOR HITLER REPLY

Zeppelin's Flights Over
British Isles Appear as New Source of Concern in London Official Life.

LONDON, July 6.—(AP)—A barrage of questions in commons and Whitehall's grave view of the Danzig situation gave evidence tonight of Britain's growing concern over Germany.

Anthony Eden, the foreign secretary, announced abruptly to parliament that he was through asking Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler for an answer to the British Locarno questionnaire.

The members cheered him as he declared: "I am not going to ask for an answer any more."

Questioners who wanted to know about Danzig drew little from Eden except a reference to what was said at the League of Nations council session, but informed sources did not disguise their anxiety over the outbreak at Geneva by Dr. Arthur Karl Greiser, Nazi president of the free city's senate.

Zeppelin Question.

Moreover, the Zeppelin Hindenburg and its flights across the British Isles appeared as a new source of concern.

It was announced Viscount Swinton, the air secretary, would be asked Wednesday to explain why foreign aircraft were permitted to traverse Great Britain without staying on "specified routes and at a reasonable altitude."

Yesterday the Zeppelin passed over two military camps and a royal air corps seaplane base.

The gravity with which sources viewed Greiser's demand for a revision of League-Danzig relations was underlined by a ceremony at the city's senate.

OLD POSTOFFICE TO BE RENOVATED

Complete Modernization of Interior Is Planned,
Starting September 1.

A complete interior renovation job, costing somewhat more than $100,000 and providing about six months' work for carpenters, masons, electricians, steam-fitters and other workmen, is scheduled to start by September 1 in the old postoffice building on Forsyth street.

With the problems of the soldiers' bonus out of the way, Postmaster Lon Livingston, who is also custodian for the old and the new postoffice buildings, reached here late today for his job.

Details of Work.

When the work is finished, the building will be as modern as the new structures the government is building in the downtown area.

PITTSBURGH, July 6.—(UP)—Tentative settlement of the six-week strike at the Portsmouth, Ohio, plant of the Wheeling Steel Corporation was reached here late today.

Cobb Says: I Am Fixing to Flee

By IRVIN S. COBB.

(Copyright, 1936, by North American Newspaper Alliance, Inc.)

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 6. Since the last bedside bulletin, so many kind souls have inquired that I am offering a supplemental report on the work of the wrecking crew.

First I cracked an ear drum. (Cries of "Whose?") Then this clinging California influenza moved slightly south by west within your correspondent's area. So now I've fallen into the hands of a throat specialist.

A fine fellow—but easily satisfied in the matter of entertainment. His idea of a sprightly conversation is to hold down my tongue with a spoon and have me say "Ah. In. What I claim is, when you've heard on "Ah" you've heard 'em all. But he fairly hangs on my words. There's a gleam in his eye I don't like. He's beginning to crave my tonsils.

Already he refers to them in a proprietorial manner. You'd think they were a specimen pair out of his private loan collection and he'd just entrusted them to me temporarily. So my next dispatch may be filed on the run. I'm fixing to flee as a bird to run mountain. In youth they gargled for me—these tonsils did—and I'll protect them now, even if I have to spend the next few months up a tree in the high Sierras.

My Dr. Dr. Dr. Dr. I can outdo those germs!

TECHWOOD HOMES RENTAL OFFICES WILL OPEN FRIDAY

Schedule of Rents Announced Places To Total Cost Per Room at Average of $7.39 Per Month.

Rental offices of Techwood Homes, the first PWA slum clearance project to be completed in the United States, will be thrown open to prospective tenants Friday, it was announced yesterday as the government made public the scale of rents.

The schedule of rents fixes the average cost per room, per month at $7.39, a charge which covers the actual dwelling rent and includes heat, hot and cold water and electricity for lighting, cooking and refrigeration. Some apartments will cost less per room and some more. All are equipped with electric ice box and electric stove.

"Atlanta is to be congratulated," said Mayor Key when he learned of the rental schedule announced by PWA Administrator Harold L. Ickes, of Washington, through D. A. Calhoun, district supervisor of the project.

Prices Reasonable.

The prices are most reasonable. Families fortunate enough to acquire apartments or houses at Techwood will find more comfortable homes, better opportunities for healthful living, better sanitation and an opportunity to rear children in an atmosphere of better morals than it is possible to find today in the slums of which Atlanta should be rid.

"The federal government has shown us the solution of the slum problem. It is a municipal matter now to purchase the slums and to demolish them."

ATLANTA BOY DIES IN FLAMING BOAT

Chattahoochee River Is Scene of Tragic Blaze as Backfire Ignites Gas.

The death of a child and painful hurt to his mother and mother-in-law, trying to rescue it from flames were the result of a boating party Sunday night on the Chattahoochee river when a sudden fire in a motorboat brought a tragic ending to a family outing.

The child, Allen Wheelock Jr., two-and-a-half-year-old son of Allen K. Wheelock, of Roswell, died, despite heroic efforts of his parents to save him when gasoline in the bottom of the boat, dropped from a leaking line, became ignited from the backfire of the motor and set his clothing on fire.

Dies at Hospital.

The victim was brought to Crawford Young hospital, where he died a few hours after admission.

According to reports, Mr. Wheelock, of Roswell, was driving the boat.

Navy Spy Sentenced To 15 Years in Prison

LOS ANGELES, July 6.—(AP)—America's first peace-time spy, Harry Thomas Thompson, former United States Navy yeoman, was sentenced by Federal Judge Leon Yankwich today to 15 years in federal prison.

The judge in sentencing Thompson, convicted of conspiracy to sell secret navy information to an agent of Japan, said he took into consideration the youth of the defendant in failing to impose the maximum sentence of 20 years.

Freed Gives Self Up to Authorities And Admits He's 'Eddie' of Diary

CHICAGO, July 6.—(AP)—Edward Freeland's surrender for questioning about the role he played in the life of Audrey Vallette, convent-bred city girl who was shot to death in her hotel, left police still seeking their prime quarry tonight—Freed's petite wife, Ruth Carmella.

Captain Andrew Barry said Freed admitted he was the "Eddie" of Miss Vallette's revealing diary, and Prosecutor Richard Devine said the husband admitted intimacies with the blonde party girl, whose slaying police have diagnosed as a crime of jealousy.

Mrs. Freed, for whom squad cars searched the city since her picture was identified by hotel attendants as that of Miss Vallette's brunette visitor shortly before her death, crossed up police expectations that she, too, would surrender for questioning today.

The search for her continued while Freed, ordered held as a material witness, hastened to assure Captain Barry he was willing to "co-operate." He professed, however, not to know his wife's whereabouts and said he had seen her since early Thursday, several hours before Miss Vallette was

Lewis Charges Operators Will Provoke Bloodshed

Steel Campaign Leader Warns 'Ruthless Tactics' of Yore
Will Not Be Tolerated, Promises Punishment for Workers Who Break Law.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(AP)—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, predicted tonight that the steel industry would "deliberately provoke strife and bloodshed" in the labor organization campaign now under way.

In a radio speech made in connection with the organizing campaign, Lewis said that the American Iron and Steel Institute had given labor an "open warning" in full-page newspaper advertisements last week that "the ruthless forces of the steel oligarchy will be unloosed against organizers."

"From bitter experience we know what this means," he added.

"It means that meetings of steel employees will be disrupted by thugs and hoodlums employed by the steel corporations; that the organizers themselves will be brutally beaten; that the police and judicial authorities of steel manufacturing communities, who are designated and dominated by the steel companies, will be used to arrest labor union organizers, to imprison them on false charges, to maltreat them cruelly while imprisoned, and in many cases forcibly to drive them from the community."

"Moreover, it is to be emphasized that when the pronouncement of the steel institute states it 'fears' industrial strife and dislocation may develop, it really means that as the organizing campaign of our committee is meeting with success, the steel corporations themselves, through their private legions of armed guards, despicable undercover spies and agents provocateurs will deliberately provoke strife and bloodshed, and attempt to place the blame for its occurrence upon the representatives of legitimate labor."

"In this connection I wish to add

FRENCH DISORDERS CLAIM HEAVY TOLL

Another '6th of February'
Feared as Blum Moves
To Curb Disturbance.

PARIS, July 6.—(AP)—Mounting disorders which left almost 200 persons injured tonight aroused leftist fears of "another sixth of February."

As Premier Leon Blum conferred with army and police heads in an effort to halt street fighting, his newspaper, La Populaire, compared the disorders with those which led to the bloody riots of February, 1934. It accused the nationalists of preparing "another sixth of February" for Bastille day, July 14, when the people's front government plans to celebrate its election victory.

The radical socialist organ, La Republique, charged the daily nationalist demonstrations were "well laid out" and that they were "the incidents" leading up to the Place de la Concorde shooting.

Roger Salengro, minister of the interior, announced 105 policemen were among those injured in Sunday's demonstration in the Champs Elysees. Six were taken to a hospital.

Champs Elysees Guarded.

Tonight several thousand mobile guards with muskets and police occupied the Champs Elysees as a precaution against fighting like that of yesterday at the tomb of the Unknown Soldier.

Premier Blum also conferred with Roger Salengro, minister of the interior, on measures to end fighting.

Earlier, in a speech at Agence, he appealed to political factions for peace and warned his audience of the trouble European situation.

Meanwhile, Minister Salengro said the ranks of the "folded arms" strikers were thinning. He estimated 113,000 workers were still out.

Workers who had threatened to take over a candy factory near Lille failed to make good their threat. Scattered disorders were reported elsewhere.

Eight persons were wounded in a gunplay in a clash at Aix-en-Provence. One was injured at Douai, and fighting broke out in a veterans' meeting at Nimes.

It was announced today that Premier Leon Blum, under the terms of a

Siamese Twin Birth Repeated in Indiana

MICHIGAN CITY, Ind., July 6.—(AP)—Twin girls joined at the base of the skull were born today to Mrs. Wesley Glick in the clinic hospital here but one lived only 15 minutes.

Dr. J. G. Rogers, attending physician, said he was considering the possibility of an operation to save the remaining baby.

He said the case was similar to that of the Florence twins born last week to Mrs. Diego Fiorenza, of Everett, a Boston suburb.

A bone fusion near the base of the skull united the twins, Dr. Rogers said.

Mrs. Glick is doing nicely, the doctor said. Her husband is an upholsterer employed in Chicago.

CHICAGO, July 6.—(AP)—The tempo of drouth's wide sweeping drama quickened today as 100-to-119-degree heat beat mercilessly down for the fourth straight day over much of the Midwest.

The general Weather Bureau office at Washington said no rain was in sight for the grain states for another 26 hours after three days of what it termed the "most trying and damaging period of the drouth so far."

With its monetary destruction already figured past the quarter-billion-dollar mark, the dry spell scored new inroads and the Illinois authorities declared rains this week were badly needed by the all-important corn crop for serious injury were to be averted.

HOLIDAY MARKED BY 444 FATALITIES

Auto Accidents Head List
With 254 Dead; Water
Mishaps Are Numerous.

CHICAGO, July 6.—(AP)—The double holiday of July Fourth was celebrated by the nation at a cost of 444 lives, revised fatality tables tonight disclosed.

The list was the second longest for the country's holiday in nine years and exceeded only by the 483 of 1931 for the past six years. In 1931, as this year, July Fourth brought a two-day holiday period.

With millions of cars on the highways, motor vehicle accidents led all other causes of accidental death with 254 aggregate. Drawings numbered 104. Various other accidents contributed the remainder.

Fireworks were responsible for seven deaths despite reports indicating a big scale revival of this traditional feature of Independence Day. The same number were killed from this cause in 1935, 1933 and 1929.

Comparing death totals for the past several years, officials of the National Safety Council were inclined to credit this year with a fair showing. Deaths totals in 1925 were 216, 175 in 1934, 185 in 1933 and 243 in 1932.

They pointed out that the 254 highways was somewhat under estimated for the two days, based on previous years, and said that July's average daily death toll from accidents is around 300.

In addition to the seven deaths, two of them occurred in the premature explosion of fireworks in a boat near Lexington, Mich. Firecrackers started a blaze which razed four business blocks in Bensenville, Iowa, with estimated damage of $250,000. Fifteen families were homeless and national guardsmen were called in to

WPA MAJOR PROJECTS WILL BE ROAD BUILDING

Work on Streets Also Will Be Undertaken; Relief Rolls Increased.

Road-building and street improvements, a type of work that offers the greatest number of jobs to unskilled labor, will be major projects on the new Works Progress Administration program that is being mapped in Georgia, it was announced yesterday by Miss Gay B. Shepperson, state director of the WPA.

Private industry has made heavy inroads into the ranks of skilled labor on the WPA rolls during the summer months, Miss Shepperson said, and although projects will be fostered to provide employment for the skilled workers on the rolls, the main efforts will be directed toward the employment of the unskilled.

Georgia's work relief rolls will be increased slightly this year to 34,850 persons during July, Miss Shepperson said. Under this increase first jobs will be given to the most needy among the unemployed.

"New assignments will be made from among those who have been de-

C. B. BREWER IS NAMED GRAND JURY FOREMAN

The jury voted 10 true bills, including an indictment of N. T. and C. Winfield Jones, during the routine session following organization.

Clark, of 981 Boulevard, N. E., on the Fulton National Bank. Winfield Jones was recently indicted on several counts in connection with his collection of campaign funds for President Roosevelt without authorization.

JUDGMENT AWARDED AGAINST ATLANTA MAN

NEW YORK, July 6.—(P)—Judge William H. Byrnes Jr. in civil district court today awarded Leon Gassiot, 28, a $7,000 judgment against Robert L. McEntire, of Atlanta, Ga., for injuries Gassiot claimed he sustained in an automobile collision with a car driven by McEntire's chauffeur.

McEntire is head of the R. L. McEntire Transfer & Storage Co., 20 Courthouse street, S. E., and lives at 888 Vedado way, N. E.

He said last night that he was in Atlanta last February, when the accident "was supposed to have happened" in New Orleans, and that he had never employed a chauffeur.

Court Rules Physician May Pick His Patients

The Georgia court of appeals ruled yesterday a physician is not obliged to accept every patient who applies to him.

The question was raised in a $25,000 damage suit filed by Mrs. Oia Resau Butterworth, an attendant at the State Hospital at Milledgeville, against Dr. R. C. Swint, former superintendent, on charges of malpractice and neglect.

Mrs. Butterworth charged she was suffering from an ailment which required an operation but that Dr. Swint refused to permit one and suggested that with proper support her condition would correct itself.

The court of appeals affirmed a Baldwin superior court ruling, holding that under the law it was necessary for a plaintiff to show that a relationship of physician and patient existed. This was not shown in the present case, the ruling said.

"There is no rule of law that requires a physician to undertake treatment of every patient who applies to him," the court of appeals held.

LIONS HEAR ADDRESS ON ATLANTA CHARITIES

Atlanta's charitable institutions are an asset because efficiency was gained by centralizing charity work here in the Community Chest, it was pointed out yesterday afternoon by the Rev. C. R. Stauffer, guest speaker at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Atlanta Lions Club.

Dr. Stauffer's talk, "Atlanta's Charitable Institutions: An Asset," was the main address at the meeting. Dr. Stauffer said charitable work formerly was on a low plane in Atlanta because of individual charity organizations working without knowing what the other institutions were attempting.

Radio broadcast sponsored by the Lions Club over WGST will be heard every Thursday night at 8:45 o'clock, it was announced at the meeting. Important facts and figures about Atlanta will be featured in the radio series.

FUNERAL RITES TODAY FOR ACCIDENT VICTIM

Final Services To Be Held for Miss Emily Patterson, Killed in Crash.

Funeral services for Miss Emily Vauda Patterson, 24, of 183 North avenue, N. E., who was killed late Sunday night in an automobile crash on the new Macon-Savannah highway near Bolingbroke, will be held at 3:30 o'clock this afternoon at the chapel of the Henry M. Blanchard funeral home.

The collision, which occurred near Bolingbroke, 20 miles north of Macon, was caused, according to witnesses, by the driver of a southbound car traveling at a high rate of speed. Following the accident, the driver jumped from his car and fled from the scene, according to the report.

Racing Fast Train. Monroe county officials reported the unknown motorist was racing a Central of Georgia fast passenger train at the time of the crash and was traveling approximately 60 miles an hour. The car in which Miss Patterson was returning with three companions from a week-end visit to Savannah crashed into a filling station after being struck by the other machine and tore down gasoline tanks and wrecked the front of the building.

Miss Patterson was pronounced dead on arrival at the Oglethorpe hospital, in Macon. Other members of the party included Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wall, of Atlanta, and Mrs. W. M. Cooper, of Decatur. It was not learned who was driving.

Mr. and Mrs. Wall were listed in "air" condition at the Macon hospital last night. Mrs. Cooper was dismissed from the hospital after treatment of minor injuries.

SOUTHERN LUMBERMEN TO PROTEST RAIL RATE

Discrimination by Northern and Eastern Carriers Is Charged.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 6.—(P)—A committee of southern hardwood lumbermen was en route to New York tonight to protest against alleged rate discrimination by northern and eastern railroads in the shipment of Pacific coast lumber.

The discrimination, southern lumbermen claim, arose July 1 when freight rates on lumber from the south and southwest were increased and a permanent rate reduction became effective on western woods.

The committee was named by Eugene Woods, president of the Southern Hardwood Traffic Association, and includes K. L. Emmons, president of the Mississippi Valley Hardwood Company, Memphis; Parrish Fuller, vice president of the Hillier, Deutsch, Edwards Company, Oakdale, La.; W. R. Jones, vice president of the Mangel Company, Louisville; H. E. Johnson, president of Mansfield Hardwood Lumber Company, Shreveport; and R. L. McClelland, president of the Chicago Mill & Lumber Co., Chicago.

A preliminary meeting will be held July 9 with executive officers of southern and southwestern railroads who are supporting southern lumbermen.

"Reductions from the west coast averaged 11 per cent," Mr. Woods said, "and we seek the same reductions, which will amount to about $25 per car and are necessary if we are to continue on a competitive basis in these important markets."

RENTALS ANNOUNCED FOR TECHWOOD HOMES

use this program so that every family living in squalid surroundings, merely because of their limited incomes, will be given a chance to live decently.

"America lags far behind in its housing activities. Germany and Italy are far ahead of us. It is not the federal government's duty to rid the cities of their slum areas, but it certainly is the duty of the community."

Rentals Vary.

Rentals will vary according to the location of the dwelling units in the buildings of the project.

The details of the rental charges are:

Three-room apartments will cost from $16.40 to $18.65. Heat, light, power and water costs for these units will be $5.95. The total average cost will be $22.47. No tenant will be admitted whose gross income is above $1,200.

Four-room apartments will cost between $20.60 and $22.70, with an electric and water charge of $6.70. The total average over-all cost will be $28. No tenant will be admitted whose gross income exceeds $1,500.

Five-Room Units.

Five-room apartments will cost between $24.35 and $25.40, with an electric and water charge of $7.50. The total average over-all cost will be $32.85. Gross income limit is $1,800.

Six-room houses will cost between $26.05 and $29.35, with an electric and water charge of $7.80. The total average over-all cost will be $34.93. Gross income limit is $1,500.

Six-room houses will cost between $27.55 and $31.30, with an electric and water charge of $8.85. The total over-all cost will average $38.10. Gross income limit for occupants is $1,800.

Reason for Variance.

The income limit on five-room apartments is fixed above that of the five-room houses because, in the apartments, the dining-room may be used as a bedroom. In the houses the dining room is on the first floor, between the kitchen and the living room and its use as a bedroom is impractical.

Modern, sanitary, fireproof homes, laid out in an area where plenty of playground and park space is provided, will be the government's offering for these rentals.

Surveys Made Here.

District Supervisor Calhoun said yesterday:

"According to surveys conducted in Atlanta, at least 4,300 self-sustaining, low income families in the city pay an average of $19.50 per month for standard houses. Expenditures for heating, lighting, ice, cooking fuel and water average $8.25 monthly, giving a total of $27.75 for dwelling expense. This figure covers only ice in the summer-time and minimum heating. In their new homes, tenants will have year-round refrigeration, constant heating during the heating season, continuous hot water, completely modern home equipment and healthful, well-designed homes in which to live. For this the over-all average rent will be $27.77.

These rental rates apply only to the Techwood project. Administrator Hughes pointed out that the Techwood project will not be standard throughout the 50 projects of the housing division, but will be determined by the individual cost of the project. The latter depending upon type of accommodations offered, geographical location, cost of land and similar factors.

Tenants selected through careful investigation will be admitted to the 604 units of Techwood homes. They will be chosen from low income groups. Sizes of families will be such that overcrowding will be avoided. Selection of tenants for the Techwood homes project will be started Friday. Because of the careful nature of the investigation required, no opening date for the project has been set. At the present time, more than 2,000 registrations have been made for the 604 living units.

The Techwood project replaces a slum community covering 11 blocks long noted for the high rates of crime and disease. The Techwood project will be built on the site of the old fire hazards threatening the city, according to O. J. Parker, chief of the fire department, who asserted the rate shackle shacks formerly on the area were capable of starting a conflagration equal to the worst fire in Atlanta's history, which occurred in 1917.

First Finished.

The development is the first of PWA's 50 slum clearance and low-rent housing projects in the city to reach completion, and was the first to be put under construction. A second Atlanta project, University, will be completed this fall.

Application notices will be mailed shortly to all who have registered. Administrator Ickes said. Applicants will be graded according to their housing needs and economic conditions, preference being given to those self-sustaining families of lowest income now residing under sub-standard conditions.

Experts Developed Schedules.

Statisticians and slum clearance experts of PWA in Washington have been working for weeks to draw up a rental schedule for Techwood that would conform to the George-Healey bill, passed during the closing days of the seventy-fourth congress, which made it possible for the project to pay the city of Atlanta for the service charges such as police protection, sanitation, school facilities and fire protection, in lieu of taxes. Sponsored by Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, and Representative Arthur Daniel Healey, of Massachusetts, the measure encountered a stormy passage through both houses of the congress, but was finally signed by the President in a form satisfactory to Atlanta's interest.

With the rental schedule now settled, the personnel office of PWA has under consideration the names of at least three Atlantans as prospective managers of the Techwood project. They are George Harrison, John A. Montgomery and S. A. McAllister.

Ramspeck Conference.

Representative Robert Ramspeck, of Atlanta, who reached Washington yesterday morning from Atlanta, conferred with Edgar F. Puryear, director of the employment division of PWA, concerning the appointment of a manager.

"While here on other departmental matters," Ramspeck said in Washington, "I had a short talk with Mr. Puryear concerning the identity of the manager, but was informed that no selection had yet been made and probably would not be for a number of days. I also learned that although Mr. Harrison's candidacy for the position had been endorsed by the Techwood advisory board his application has not yet been received in Washington. I do not know who will be appointed."

FRONT DOOR SMASHED,

HOME IS RANSACKED

Smashing a front door glass in the residence of L. W. Pierce, at 153 Westminister road, a negro yesterday afternoon ransacked the house and took an unknown quantity of loot.

Pierce, 153 Westminister drive, was sitting on his front porch at the time and saw the negro break the glass with a brick. He summoned police, but the intruder had escaped by the time they arrived. Mr. Pierce is vacationing in Florida with his family, so the extent of the loss was not known.

WHISKY 'MEDICATORS'

ARE SEIZED BY POLICE

Corn whisky "medicators" were believed found yesterday by Atlanta police, when they discovered a quantity of coloring matter and flavoring along with five gallons of plain corn whisky and several bottles of "doctored" liquor.

Raiding the basement of a garage at 202 Trinity avenue, the detective raiding squad, composed of Officers R. R. Davis, J. A. Bailey and George Caldwell, arrested James DeLois, 25, of North Boulevard address, and J. C. Ward, 32, who gave his address as 202 Trinity avenue. Both were charged with disorderly conduct, whisky.

Members of the squad reported they found three pints and five half-pints of corn whisky that had been treated to resemble something entirely different, as well as the five gallon jug of plain corn whisky.

Jerry Rooney, With Skull Injury, Lands in Grady Hospital, Sans Cash

Jerry Rooney, an outstanding "fighting Irish" member of the A. E. F. during the World War, champion boxer money spender and holder of the city "arrested for being drunk" title, landed in Grady hospital last night with a possible fracture of the skull.

Entered on the charts at Grady as Joseph Rooney, his address was written as 125 Decatur street, which, if you know the location as well as Jerry does, is the address of the Atlanta police station. On the chart's blank for nearest friend was written "Atlanta police."

Patrolman J. J. Elliott, stationed at the hospital, tried to find out how Jerry was injured.

"Somebody hit me on the head with the flatiron building," he declared in thick Irish accent.

Further information was withheld by the white-headed Irishman, except that he insisted he had been robbed of $55.

Patrolman Elliott consulted with several other policemen, all of whom were intimately familiar with Jerry's financial status at all times because of his frequent visits to the police station under friendly but insistent escort.

"Could he have had $55 tonight?" the officers asked one another. After a bit of calculating the patrolmen concluded that such was impossible at the present time.

The clinic "impression" of his injury was a possible fracture of the skull.

Jerry recently made police blotter history by breaking his 1935 record of 29 arrests for being drunk during the first six months of the present year. His 30th arrest of 1936 was recorded June 30.

Love for Edgar Cooled Year Ago,

Ex-Actress Tells Balm Suit Jury

MIAMI, Fla., July 6.—(P)—Pretty Kathryn Crawford testified today she stopped loving her former husband, James Edgar Jr., 27-year-old Detroit sugar heir, in February, 1935, but afterwards "loved" him.

On the witness stand in Edgar's $300,000 alienation of affections suit against Lewis E. Mallory III, young Broadway (Pa.) oil man, the former actress said she did not mean to imply affection for Edgar when she called him "dear" and "darling." She said she calls all her friends these names.

Miss Crawford said she stayed with Edgar at a Jacksonville (Fla.) hotel last March only "to avoid argument," adding she did not know the legal effect of this action.

Denies Misconduct.

She denied again, as on direct examination, she ever misconducted herself with Mallory, whom a subsequent witness testified was known as "The Night Hawk," to employees of the Miami Beach hotel, where he lived last winter.

"I deny you were ever at any time in Mr. Mallory's room at the Beauville hotel," she was asked by Edgar's attorney, Fred Botts.

"If Miss Crawford, anyone saw a girl in Mr. Mallory's room, you were not the girl."

Edgar forced two weeks ago in Detroit from Miss Crawford, charges Mallory with seduction and theft of his former wife's affections.

Roosevelt Expected to Announce

Cabinet Status of Farley Today

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(UP)—Postmaster General James A. Farley had luncheon with President Roosevelt today, discussed his campaign and official duties, and emerged two hours later leaving his boss to announce tomorrow what his cabinet status will be during the campaign.

"Big Jim," chairman of the democratic national committee, has been able to escape President Roosevelt's cabinet for two years ago, compelling a choice between government and party positions. He is understood to be seeking a leave of absence for the duration of the drive to re-elect Mr. Roosevelt, preferring not to resign.

Rumors of his resignation from the cabinet have been current ever since the president first turned him aside with "no comment" and held both his national jobs. In addition to the chairmanship of the national committee, Farley is chairman of the New York state democratic committee.

Farley was just as noncommittal over his plans today.

"Bound up indirectly with Farley's plans is his reported ambition to be governor of New York. Obviously he could not run in that state this year and direct a national campaign at the same time. Meanwhile, Governor Herbert H. Lehman's decision to run again promises to keep a democrat friendly to New Deal in that spot. Presumably Farley would be in a position by 1938 to become the candidate.

parent immunity to Mr. Roosevelt's earlier order. Less than four months remain until election day. Factional fights among democratic state organizations in several regions make Farley's task this year even greater than in 1934.

Current intimations are that if Farley is given a leave of absence W. W. Howes, first assistant postmaster general, will become acting postmaster.

Farley, who is from South Dakota and his selection might be regarded by some as indirect statement for Farley's reference to Governor Alfred M. Landrum, being from "a typical prairie state." The phrase caused resentment among midwesterners.

Farley was alone with the President today. Last Friday he spent several hours with Mr. Roosevelt together with W. Forbes Morgan, treasurer of the national committee; Lawrence W. Rieker, secretary; and Charles Michelson, democratic publicity director. Campaign plans were discussed but Farley's status probably was not mentioned.

Farley, who is from South Dakota and his selection might be regarded by some as indirect statement for Farley's reference to Governor Alfred M. Landrum, being from "a typical prairie state." The phrase caused resentment among midwesterners.

Farley was alone with the President today. Last Friday he spent several hours with Mr. Roosevelt together with W. Forbes Morgan, treasurer of the national committee; Lawrence W. Rieker, secretary; and Charles Michelson, democratic publicity director. Campaign plans were discussed but Farley's status probably was not mentioned.

Bound up indirectly with Farley's plans is his reported ambition to be governor of New York. Obviously he could not run in that state this year and direct a national campaign at the same time. Meanwhile, Governor Herbert H. Lehman's decision to run again promises to keep a democrat friendly to New Deal in that spot. Presumably Farley would be in a position by 1938 to become the candidate.

Current intimations are that if Farley is given a leave of absence W. W. Howes, first assistant postmaster general, will become acting postmaster.

HUGH HOWELL SUPPORT LOST BY TALMADGETTES

state with the grandfather clause on every item, then adjourn.

"That is the only way I could carry out my campaign pledge of paying the state out of debt and not raising taxes."

Russell Prepares Speech

Meanwhile, in his Windsor home, Senator Richard B. Russell Jr., began working on the first stump speech of his campaign, to be delivered Thursday at Waycross. Senator Russell spoke briefly over the radio Saturday night, in which he accepted the Talmadge challenge and said he would have more definite statements on the Talmadge platform later.

Senator Russell's campaign manager, Marion H. Allen, of Milledgeville, President Roosevelt's pre-convention campaign manager in Georgia, opened the senator's campaign headquarters at the Wincoff hotel here during the day.

Speaker Rivers opened headquarters in the Ansley hotel and announced the appointment of Mrs. Gladstone Williams, of Dublin and Washington, as office manager of the headquarters. Mrs. Williams was an attaché of the Roosevelt headquarters in the pre-convention campaign. She formerly served as secretary to Senator Tom Watson and to Senator Walter F. George.

To Run Own Campaign.

Governor Talmadge announced during the day that he would manage his own campaign.

Charles D. Redwine, of Fayetteville, the Talmadge candidate for governor, is expected to name J. W. Culpepper, of his home town, and Judge Julian Goodrich, of Griffin, as co-managers of his campaign.

Senator Russell's campaign manager said that the offices here and the senator's office at Windsor were deluged with letters and telegrams congratulating him on his brief radio speech Saturday night.

"The people are rallying to the cause of real democracy," the Russell spokesman said.

Meanwhile Judge Blanton Fortson, of Athens, nominee of the Welter movement for the Georgia governorship, completed arrangements for the formal opening of his campaign for governor in a speech he will deliver at Washington, Wilkes county, Saturday.

John W. W. Larsen, of Dublin, the fourth candidate for governor, continued his speaking tour in south Georgia.

Howell Praised.

Friends of State Chairman Howell yesterday made public the following editorial from the Lyons Progress, which they said depicted the sentiment of his followers:

"On Saturday of this week it will be definitely determined who will lead the Talmadge machine for governor and who he will endorse. Rumor would have it that Redwine and not Howell will have the Talmadge stamp of approval. If he does go back on Howell, the machine will be rank desertion. Howell has the best and most loyal friend he ever had. It will be the crime of the loyal men shudder in the shoes to believe that Talmadge will desert the man who more than any other one man made him possible. It will be a rank desertion, a blow below the belt and a disgrace for friendship."

"Governor, you can't do it; the people will not stand for it, and you will sink the very moment you desert the captain. Hugh Howell is your captain and while you may be the owner, he is the only man in the room who has the chance to steer you clear of the hidden rocks."

Thousands of Pile sufferers do not know that the cause of Piles is internal—bad circulation of blood in the lower bowel.

PROVOCATION IS LAID TO STEEL OPERATORS with all the earnestness at my command that, if any strike, violence or bloodshed occurs as a result of the present effort of our committee to organize the steel workers, it will not arise from our organizers or their activities.

"We shall pursue our purpose relentlessly but legally and peacefully."

"I wish also to warn those who represent the steel industry that their unlawful, ruthless tactics of former years will not be tolerated by our committee."

"We shall also bring to justice anyone in the steel industry who is guilty of lawlessness."

This does not mean merely the subordinate officials of the steel corporations, their armed guards, or other hirelings or mercenaries. It means that we shall hold to accountability bankers, directors and officials of steel corporations—those who really formulate policies and methods—of J. P. Morgan & Company, which controls the United States Steel Corporation, down through other bankers, directors and officials of less powerful but important steel corporations, to the lowest member of the hierarchy."

Other developments in the campaign:

PITTSBURGH — The Wheeling Steel Corporation reached a tentative agreement with a committee claiming to represent workers in its closed Portsmouth, Ohio, plant. Work was expected to be resumed soon.

NEW ORLEANS — The National Labor Relations Board asked the circuit court of appeals to reconsider its decision that the Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation need not recognize the Amalgamated as exclusive representative of its Aliquippa, Pa., employees.

Lewis Quotes Institute.

Lewis quoted the steel institute as saying that "it favors the right of organization among its employees, without coercion from any source."

"What coercion can the representatives of organized labor exert upon the workers in these plants? They appeal as they make to them except within the organized labor movement for their own protection and the good of those who toil?" Lewis asked.

"The institute does not propose to meet to trust to the discretion of the steel workers; it does not propose to grant them free liberty of organization."

"Interference and coercion of employees trying to organize home from the economic advantages held by the employer. In the steel industry it is an elaborate system of spies, and in a studied discharge of those who advocate any form of organization displeasing to the management."

It is shown by confining all yearnings for organization to make company unions, controlled and dominated by management itself. This is manifested in a black list which threatens the announcement of a control policy for all the steel corporations of this country.

"Why shouldn't organized labor throw its influence into this situation? What chance have the steel workers to form a free and independent organization without the aid of organized labor?"

Company Unions Hit.

Lewis assailed the steel employer representation plans, striking particularly at their no-dues features.

"The company pays all the expenses of these miserable subterfuges," he said. "They pay these expenses to secure an advantage over their employees."

"The cost of maintaining a company union is trifling compared to the savings it affords in pay rolls."

"The campaign's purpose, he said, was twofold:

(1) To "bring to the steel workers economic and political freedom" and "a wage sufficient for him to live as an independent American citizen."

(2) To "protect the members of our own organizations" for "we know... a condition exists which is a menace to our freedom."

Quotes Roosevelt.

"No greater truth of present-day significance was ever stated by a President of the United States than the declaration made by President Roosevelt in his speech at Franklin field to the effect that America was really ruled by an economic dictatorship which must be eliminated before the democratic and economic welfare of all classes of our people can be fully realized," he added.

Lewis concluded by saying:

"I unhesitatingly place the values represented by 30,000,000 human beings engaged in industry and their 60,000,000 dependents as being above and superior in every moral consideration to the 5,000,000,000 of inanimate material represented by the resources of the American Iron and Steel Institute or to the additional billions of inanimate material represented by the resources of the American Iron and Steel Institute."

Other recent years had the following number of mortalities attributed to pyrotechnics: 1930, 12; 1928, 11; 1931, 6; 1934, 2.

$700,000 Property Rented.

Cuba told council that the city is renting a $700,000 piece of property, the old city hall site at Forsyth and Marietta streets, for a nominal figure and that other property can be obtained at a reasonable figure to establish a downtown park there. He also called attention to the fact that the auditorium will be renovated within the next few months and that it will be one of the finest buildings of its type in the south.

"We should take steps to acquire the triangle facing it," Cuba said. "I have been informed that the property can be obtained at a reasonable figure. It is bounded by Edgewood avenue and Courtland and Gilmer streets."

Public buildings and grounds committee, headed by Councilman John A. White, which already has made a study of the auditorium proposal, will investigate both suggestions. The Cuba measure is a revival of the suggestion made by auditorium architects that the triangle should be owned by the city and converted into a park area.

All other measures sent to the administrative board by council were sanctioned and will go to Key for his action today.

bill which came before a chamber of deputies committee, intends to nationalize in whole or in part the country's war industries.

Some 10 factories are expected to pass from private ownership into the hands of the government under decrees which the cabinet would be authorized to promulgate.

Among them are the Great Schneider Arms Works, at Le Creusot, the Hotchkiss machine gun plant, the Drandt arms factory and that part of the Renault automobile works which makes tanks.

Other enterprises which would pass under government operation include those naval shipyards now privately owned.

Little has been revealed of the details of the scheme pending promulgation of the decrees. However, Minister of Defense Edouard Daladier has disclosed only when their arms manufacturing branches are so tied up with their other activities that they cannot be separated.

DIFFICULTIES FORESEEN IN NATIONALIZATION

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(AP) Lawrence V. Benet, retired managing director of Hotchkiss & Company, French munitions manufacturers, said tonight he foresaw "difficulties" in the French government's announced intention to nationalize that country's arms industry.

Benet, who retired last month after more than 51 years with the company and now living here, said, however, he had no authoritative information of the French government's plan and could make no formal statement.

BRITISH TROOPS SEEK TO OVERAWE ARABS

JERUSALEM, July 6.—(Palestine Agency)—British troops concentrated military operations around Rabias today in an effort to convince Arab terrorists of the strength of government forces and thus to end disorders which have been going on for 11 weeks.

The operations were the most extensive in Palestine since the World War. They were carried out in a large area in which some of the bloodiest encounters of the present disturbances have occurred.

100-116 DEGREE HEAT RECORDED IN MIDWEST

118 at Napoleon topped a 47-year mark.

Other North Dakota temperatures were officially: McCluskey, 117; Valley City, 116; Bismarck, 114, and Devil's Lake, 112.

Highways were reported "blowing up" in parts of Illinois where 100-degree heat was general outside Chicago.

With temperatures of 100 degrees general in Iowa and one death from drowning reported, Ray Murray, state agricultural secretary, said that Iowa would ask inclusion in the drought aid program if dry weather lasted through the week.

An official Canadian statement said that the dry, hot weather had brought about a total loss of crops in southern and southwestern Saskatchewan.

Weather Bureau forecasters said it was likely new seasonal highs for much of the heat belt would be recorded. Yesterday a new all-time high of 119 was reached for the vicinity of Kennebunk, S. D.

A graphic scene of the drought's day came to pass on the Chicago Board of Trade, where all grains bounded to the trading ceilings at the opening, with wheat unable to climb past the 5-cent limit and other grains similarly affected, trading reached a stalemate soon after. Brokers left the pit and business reached a standstill.

Closing quotations were at the top, new seasonal highs for all cereals, with September wheat $1.06 1-2.

Relief Work Spurred.

While heads of the AAA, WPA and the Resettlement Administration, which had announced a far-reaching program for removal of drought-ridden farmers to more tillable localities, met in Washington to report the progress of a federal relief plan to President Roosevelt, state agencies stepped up the pace of their activities.

Montana officials announced a state-wide drought conference at Harlow Wednesday. Gov. F. E. Wood, deputy WPA administrator, said it would build about 800 small water storage reservoirs in the arid area. The Nebraska WPA administrator said a survey to determine the needs of stricken farm families. The 3,000 indigent farmers who began work in North Dakota, Wyoming and Montana relief projects were to be increased to about 10,000 before the week's end.

Official word that recent rains had relieved the drought situation in much of Dixie was coupled today with reports of damage and rising stream flows from combined rain and windstorms in Virginia.

FOREST FIRES RAGE OVER TWO STATES

SHERIDAN, Wyo., July 6.—(AP) A thousand foresters battled raging fires sweeping over 12,000 acres of timberland in Wyoming and Montana tonight.

Near Newcastle, Wyo., two fires ate into more than 10,000 acres of forest and 600 Civilian Conservation workers and forest rangers faced the blistering heat under a torrid sun in an effort to halt the flames' on-rush.

Sixteen sections of land were burned over on Tuesday night near Newcastle. The fire, started by lightning two weeks ago, was believed extinguished, but it flared anew Saturday.

Forest fires were burning in half a dozen Montana sectors. The worst was near Lodge Grass canyon, southwest of Billings.

About 500 acres of timberland was burned in a fire that licked through the Lewis and Clark National forest, south of Great Falls.

Another fire along the Stillwater river, in the Custer National forest of southwestern Montana, was reported under control by W. J. Derriek, supervisor. He said 115 fighters were on hand.

Between 300 and 400 men battled a fire in the Big Horn National forest, northwest of Sheridan. Origin of the blaze remained a mystery. Reported by a Wyo. (Mont.) cattleman, said he saw a "ball of fire come floating out of the sky" and land in the forest.

based on the presumption he spoke on instructions from higher authorities. His halt in Germany, en route to Geneva, was seen as most significant by informed observers.

Friendly Co-operation.

Eden assured commons he was acting in "friendly co-operation with England" in connection with the new turn of Danzig affairs.

As for the Locarno questionnaire, which sought to clarify Germany's attitude toward the existing European alignment following her remilitarization of the Rhineland, Eden said the British ambassador to Berlin had "reminiscent the German government on more occasions than one" of Britain's anxiety for an early reply.

Walter S. Liddell, conservative, made the allegation today that Germany possesses an annual free sterling credit which she is using for increased rearmaments, but the government questioned the accuracy of the statement that an annual credit exists.

RISING TEMPERATURE PREDICTED FOR TODAY

Temperatures shot up to the 93-degree mark at the downtown weather bureau between 3 and 4 p. m., while at the same time thermometers at the Candler airport weather bureau were registering 96 degrees.

Today, according to the forecasters, the downtown mark will soar to a possible 94 degrees, which means a possible 98 degrees at the suburban station.

Another possibility for today, according to the weather bureau, will be showers during the afternoon.

"Skies will be partly cloudy," said the forecaster, "and there may be local thunder showers. If they arrive, there is, of course, a possibility of a slight moderation in temperatures."

Stockade 'Comfortable' Despite New Arrivals

Although police headquarters yesterday sent almost four times its normal number of prisoners to the city stockade, the latter was reported only comfortably filled last night and the inmates not suffering from overcrowding.

On a heavy court day as the result of arrests over the holiday period, 112 prisoners were hauled from the police station to the stockade and city farm during the morning and 48 more got a patrol wagon ride during the afternoon to swell the total to 160.

Conditions at the farm and stockade were not crowded, according to the report, in spite of the wholesale migration of prisoners. Approximately 300 men and 68 women are now lodged at the two prisons.

A C H G BULLER TALL

A Collie Can't Hold His Tail Up
If He Likes A Lady

These lines are written for youngsters in their teens.

If you are naturally timid and humble and without confidence in your own strength or judgment, so that all responsibility dismays and confuses you, you cannot be happy without security or feel secure without a guide to follow.

Your road to happiness is to find a leader who is strong and fine and steadfast and let him choose the way.

If you are naturally rebellious and resentful of all restraint and authority, you will prize liberty more than security and nobody can advise you. You will learn only by suffering.

If you have an eager and imaginative mind; if you are more intelligent than the average, and know it, as you must; if you have a talent for some art or craft or useful work and feel impelled to set about it; if you are ambitious to be somebody and do something worth while; in short, if you are one of Fortune's favorites, let nothing keep you from doing the thing that is necessary to your self-respect.

You may be called stubborn and conceited and certainly you will make mistakes and pay for them; but at all costs you must do the thing your self-respect demands.

Self-respect is necessary to your happiness. Nobody else can destroy it for you. If you are depressed for a week or a year by doing the wrong thing, and you will live in black shame and despair until you regain it.

The need of self-respect will keep you clean. You will avoid evil, not because it is sinful, but because you couldn't respect yourself if you did it.

Being imaginative, you will enjoy more and suffer more than others, and you will be lonely without reason and feel unreasonable longings; but you will be busy and useful and respectable, and as happy as any mortal deserves to be, if you will remember always to do what is necessary to your self-respect.

DARDANELLES PLAN OF BRITAIN IS BLOCKED

Both Turkey, Russia Oppose Unlimited Passage to Black Sea.

MONTREAL, Switzerland, July 6.—(AP)—Turkey and the Soviet union balked today at a British attempt to open the way to the Black sea for her fleet in case of war.

Turkey, which has proposed rigid limits on warship tonnage passing through the Dardanelles in time of peace and wants the right to close the straits to warships in time of war, was displeased with the British draft presented today.

She believed it would undermine her proposed sovereignty over the Dardanelles, since the British suggested continuation of a form of the present straits commission, and would make the new Dardanelles convention dependent upon its ratification by all signatories.

To appease the Turks, informed observers said, the British probably will approve signature of a special protocol granting Turkey the right to fortify the straits as soon as Montreux negotiations are concluded.

A Russian spokesman also said the British demand for unrestricted passage of her warships to the Black sea was not acceptable.

Rather than allow large, belligerent navies to enter the Black sea, the Russians were said to be willing to bottle up their own fleet there, even if Russia herself were at war.

Unceremonious Sanctions Burial Is Arranged by League Committee

Assembly Has Yet to Ratify Decision for Suspension of Financial, Economic Measures Adopted Against Italy.

GENEVA, July 6.—(AP)—The League of Nations arranged a final and unceremonious burial today for sanctions, the last hope of conquered Ethiopia.

By unanimous vote, Geneva's coordinating committee set July 15 as the date on which the powers may formally suspend the financial and economic measures they adopted against Italy in a vain attempt to stop the African war.

"What difference does it make? Sanctions are already dead," exclaimed the Peruvian delegate, Dr. Francisco Tudela y Varela, to cut short an argument on the date of the suspension.

The league assembly has yet to ratify the committee's decision.

Before the co-ordinating group voted, the members were told by Augusto Vasconcellos, of Portugal, committee president, sanctions results "were by no means negligible," although they failed to save Haile Selassie's kingdom.

He cited decreases in Italian gold.

Florida Woman Files Alienation Suit.

CINCINNATI, July 6.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen Poindexter Tillman Stanley, 38, of Fort Lauderdale, Fla., filed suit today in common pleas court asking $500,000 damages from her father-in-law, E. B. Stanley, president of the American Laundry Machinery Company.

She charged he alienated the affections of her husband, Taylor Stanley, secretary of the company, who has filed suit for divorce.

In answering her husband's divorce suit recently, Mrs. Stanley asked permanent alimony of $500,000 and custody of their son, Ethan Bates Stanley II.

Mrs. Stanley charged E. B. Stanley induced her husband to abandon her and to file the divorce suit. She asserted the elder Stanley forced his son to transfer all of his property and estate to the father so that he could have "more forceful influence" over the son.

The sanctions were applied last October 10.

ETHIOPIA APPEALS TO BRITONS FOR CASH

LONDON, July 6.—(AP)—The Ethiopian minister appealed to the British people tonight for "at least 2,000,000 pounds" to prosecute war in western Ethiopia which is not yet occupied by the Italians.

The plea signed by Minister Warqene Marin was made shortly after Emperor Haile Selassie returned from the League of Nations meeting at Geneva. The League turned down the Negus' appeal for money for the same purpose.

The new appeal for approximately $10,000,000 was addressed in behalf of "the ill-used and forsaken people of Ethiopia and of the world in general."

F.D.R. FORECASTS FUNDS FOR CANAL

President, However, Says He Lacks Power to Make Allocation.

WASHINGTON, July 6.—(AP)—Florida's two senators said today they had been told by President Roosevelt he was without authority to allot relief funds for continuation of the Florida ship canal.

The announcement came in the face of repeated statements by canal proponents that they hoped to get an allocation out of old and unrestricted relief appropriations so that work on the cross-state waterway would not be stopped.

The senators, Scott M. Loflin and William L. Hill, said the President expressed belief, however, the next congress would appropriate funds for the canal.

Mrs. Roosevelt told them, they said, that $200,000 remaining out of the total canal allocations of $5,400,000 would be used to keep a staff of engineers at Camp Roosevelt, headquarters of the project, to continue their studies of the undertaking. He added, the senators said, buildings not used by the engineers would be turned over to the University of Florida for extension educational purposes.

The Floridians said the President had not lost interest in the gulf-atlantic waterway and he believed eventually it would be completed. He regretted his inability, they said, to allot additional funds for its immediate continuation.

DOWER RIGHTS DENIED OIL MAGNATE'S WIDOW

RIVERHEAD, N. J., July 6.—(AP) A petition by Mrs. Pauline V. Rogers, attractive widow of Colonel Henry Huddleston Rogers, Standard Oil magnate, to have her dower rights in his $16,000,000 estate restored, was denied today in a decision by Surrogate Robert S. Pollock.

Soon after the decision was made public, C. Alexander Capron, counsel for the 42-year-old widow, announced in New York Mrs. Rogers' fight would be carried to the appellate division.

Mrs. Rogers, in attempting to obtain her one-third widow's share in the Rogers' fortune, had asked the surrogate to declare invalid a waiver of dower rights she signed in January, 1934.

Atlantan Says Nation Needs Men of Proven Business Ability in Office.

George W. West, Atlanta businessman and formerly associated with the Home Owners' Loan Corporation, issued a brief formal statement yesterday regarding his candidacy for congressman from the fifth district in the September primary.

Mr. West qualified for the office last week. He is opposing Congressman Robert Ramspeck and W. P. Middlebrooks, Atlanta lawyers.

ANTI-NAZI DISSOLUTION IS EXPECTED IN DANZIG

Administrative Subterfuge Will Mask Violation of Constitution.

FREE CITY OF DANZIG, July 6.—(AP)—Danzig's Nazi senate president came home today from his startling Geneva call—determined, apparently, to exterminate all opposition.

Dr. Arthur Karl Greiser, who thumbed his nose at Geneva newspapermen, gave the League of Nations' council a snappy Nazi salute and all but demanded League get out of Danzig, ordered social democratic (opposition) newspaper seized for printing a "derogatory" account of his tiff with the journalists.

His own organ, Vor Posten, served notice "the superfluity of the opposition parties will now be demonstrated."

This was generally taken to mean that while there would be no formal order dissolving opposition parties—a move in conflict with the free city's constitution—administrative measures would be taken to bring about the same effect.

The League and its high commissioners, charged with the task of preserving the Danzig constitution is preserved.

(In Berlin, where he stopped en route home from Geneva, Greiser told the Volkischer Beobachter, Reichsfuehrer Hitler's newspaper, that 16 years of League control over the Free City must end. German officials declined to comment.)

The Danzig issue was projected into the world spotlight—some observers said by Adolf Hitler himself—when few expected it.

International diplomacy had focused on Austria or the former German colonies in Africa and elsewhere as the next stakes in the reich's game of regaining her place in the sun.

To many observers, however, it seemed clear since the resignation of Hermann Raushing as president of the Danzig senate, November 24, 1934, that drastic action concerning the guidance of Berlin.

Raushing refused to obey the orders of the Nazi district leader, Albert Forster, who receives his instructions from Berlin.

Diplomats said Dr. Greiser, who succeeded Raushing was guided in all particulars by the Nazi party and its leader, Forster, who in Germany was one of the reichsfuehrer's confidants.

In the Volkstag elections of April 7, 1935, the Nazis expected to gain a clear two-thirds majority, but instead won but 60 per cent.

But Forster's aggressive propaganda increased, rather than abated, after the elections, and he became known as Hitler's "commissioner for Danzig."

Nazis, however, have been careful to insist no illegal action or "putsch" is contemplated to rejoin Danzig to the Fatherland which lost it by the treaty of Versailles.

Their strategy, rather, has consisted of attempting to demonstrate the "uselessness" of the League commissioner and seeking to transfer his functions to Poland, with which Germany has a 30-year non-aggression pact, effective since January 26, 1934.

Bitterness between the Nazis and other German elements in Danzig has increased, resulting in frequent "incidents." The opposition has complained to Commissioner Lester, claiming the Nazi-controlled police failed to protect them. And the Nazis objected that this constituted a move to have Lester mix in domestic affairs.

Feeling has been especially high since a meeting house brawl on June 13 and since funerals of slain Nazis, at which Viktor Lutze, chief of staff of German storm troopers, and Heinrich Himmler, head of the reich's secret police, represented Dr. Greiser.

The climax was reached with the arrival of the German cruiser Leipzig and the commander's failure to pay his customary call on the League commissioner.

HAD YOUR EYES EXAMINED THIS YEAR?

Glasses that were correctly fitted to your eyes in 1935 may be entirely unsuited one year hence. It is not the fault of the lenses, but the march of time.

When the vision becomes impaired to the extent that eyeglasses are needed, a re-examination once a year is not too often. Many realize the importance; many are forgetful or indifferent until time pulls down the shade.

Hard-Riding Smokies Open Four Game Set Here Tonight

BREAK O'DAY!

By Ralph Hickey

Every time I see the big fellow I get pop-eyed. Whether it's standing in the lobby of his New York restaurant, climbing into a ring, around the hotel room, or getting off a train—I always get pop-eyed.

It's because Jack Dempsey LOOKS so good all the time—exactly as if he could peel off that neatly tailored suit, step into some ring togs and go 15 fast rounds—or knock out the other guy in the second round.

And it's been quite a span of years—as years go—since he knocked out big Jess Willard and came on to be the greatest heavyweight the game ever knew.

Yesterday he climbed off a train in our town and he looked trim and ready to go. He always looks just that way.

And the crowds never weary. They came around—kids wanting to shake his hand—ladies and gentlemen and gals and boys—all staring and saying, "That's him."

He is doing some refereeing here and there about the country. He comes in and he draws down $500 for his light task of watching a couple of grapplers growl and grunt and sweat. Any promoter who wishes to have him referee for $500 can have him. And he's in demand.

He could referee almost every evening if he wished. It must make him feel pretty good at that—to know that 10 years after he lost the title he is still the champion and sought out by a lot of people who wish to shove $500 into his hands for maybe 30 or 40 minutes of walking about. Or maybe helping out the act by punching a rasser in the jaw.

It's a tribute to one of the better fellows. He does things. Such as, for instance, a free exhibition for the crippled children's hospital at Warm Springs. Free. No $500 there. He's like that. And always has been like that.

Negor a small kid wanted to shake the hand that knocked out Willard, Firpo and Carpenter that couldn't do so by stepping up and sticking out his hand. I've sat with him while he signed autographs by the hundreds. He won't sign a blank piece of paper. Once someone tried to make an I. O. U. out of same. But cards, programs and books he will sign.

He and Babe Ruth, more than any other two celebrities, had the big idea.

Which explains why Jack Dempsey still is the champ. He always will be. He looks the part. And, which is more important, he acts it.

THE LOUIS MYTH.

Yesterday I asked Jack Dempsey about that Joe Louis statement.

When Max Schmeling knocked out Louis in the twelfth round a few days ago, the knockout that was heard around the world, he knocked out a million or so dollars in profits for the handlers of Joe Louis. And so quite a few of the people in New York, still shocked by the knockout, didn't take any too kindly to the statement by Dempsey that Louis couldn't take it about the head and wouldn't be a great fighter.

Yesterday I asked him about it. "All I said was this," he said. "They asked me what I thought. And I told them that Louis was pretty tough about the jaw but he couldn't take blows to the head. And if he can't take them there he will never be a greater fighter. He may beat a lot of second-raters, but he won't beat a good, smart fighter. That's what I thought and that's what I said."

"Schmeling should have knocked him out 20 times. He had him knocked out that many times but couldn't finish him off until the twelfth. Schmeling fought a good, cute fight. He kept his shoulder high and he kept punching with that right. And finally he got him. Louis couldn't take it about the head. That's all."

And that's enough. It leaves Dempsey in his proper place—at the head of the list of great fighters. It wasn't many weeks ago the majority of opinion would have said Louis perhaps was a better battler than Dempsey. And then an old-timer, with punch about gone, makes Louis look like a novice.

THE HARDEST PUNCH.

"Jack," I said, "you took a few punches. Which one would you say was the hardest?"

"I don't remember any one. That Firpo punch was a hard one. But a lot of those fellows could punch—Firpo, Carpenter, Brennan, Gibbons and some others. I guess I remember some of my early fights. Gunboat Smith had a great punch. There were a lot of punches."

Dempsey was willing to take a punch to give one. And he could take it. And dish it out. The two go together in the ring. It is doubtful if ever the ring saw a slaughter in a championship fight comparable with the one administered by Dempsey to Jess Willard at Toledo in 1919.

And from that time on—with two exceptions—he belted them over with an attack which came from behind armor plate. Joe Louis, rated as the best thing since Dempsey, was punched silly and couldn't take it. Which is the difference in ring greatness.

Sullivan, Corbett, Fitzsimmons, Jeffries, Johnson, Willard, Dempsey, Tunney, Schmeling, Sharkey, Carnera, Baer, Braddock—look them over.

Out of the lot you are compelled to select Dempsey as the best combination of the fighting man. There were better boxers. But not better fighters.

WHAT'S ON AHEAD?

What about the future? Dempsey isn't sure. And he wouldn't want to be making statements anyhow.

They are pretty sure to dig up Max Baer. He fought a few nights ago in Texas and was pretty terrible. He will likely fight Louis again. And lose. The general opinion is Baer is all through. He won't train. And he traveled too fast.

There aren't any good fighters, as a matter of fact. Schmeling and Sharkey are too old to be considered as really heavyweight championship class.

Braddock, the champion and one of the finer fellows and boxers, is probably the best of the lot after all, despite the general opinion a few weeks ago he wasn't.

Braddock never made any claims to greatness. All his manager ever said was that he had a fighter who could take it and, if knocked down, one who would get up and fight some more. And that's true. Dempsey thinks one of his proteges, Red Burman, of Baltimore, is one of the best prospects.

But until someone comes along, there isn't yet a greater fighter on the horizon. Since Dempsey, anyhow, there hasn't been "another Dempsey." Nor one closely resembling same.

Jack Dempsey, who refereed the main event, talked to the fans about his long boxing career, and stated that he did not think the proposed Schmeling-Braddock bout would go through this year because of a clash of promoters. John Henry Lewis, he said, may be Braddock's opponent in the fall.

Speer Offers Rough Show This Week

Promoter Frank Speer is going to unfold his Fourth of July fireworks a little late, but from the looks of the wrestling lineup he has arranged for Wednesday night at Ponce de Leon, the fans will be treated to a dynamic and exciting show.

Dick Raines, who opposes Pat O'Shocker in the feature match, tips the beams at a mere 240. O'Shocker weighs 310 pounds. The semi-final pairs off Milo Steinborn, weight 220, and ranked as the strongest wrestler of all time, against Dick Lever, a young mauler, from Tennessee, who caves in the scales at 240. George Hagen and Nick Nazarian, the opening bout principals, are "little" fellows, still possessing super-human strength.

Fans are looking forward with a great deal of anticipation and curiosity to the Raines-O'Shocker match. They figure, as does Promoter Speer, that O'Shocker is capable enough and sufficiently tough to test the dangerous "pile-driver" hold with which Raines has been putting all opponents to rout.

The show will be one of the most bruising contests of the season. Milo Steinborn is a strong attraction here also. The German professional has made his first local appearance in nearly a year and a half two weeks ago, spilling Dorv Roche in a manner that left no doubt but that Steinborn still possesses super-human strength.

The show will begin at 8:30.

Warren, Gulf Nine Will Play Tonight

The Warren Company baseball team plays the Gulf Refining Company nine on the Warren athletic field tonight at 8:30 o'clock.

Jesse Feaster, property of the Atlanta Crackers and recommended to the Warren team by Paul Richards, will be on the mound for the refiners.

The Warren Company, having been handicapped recently by several first-string players being out of the lineup, will start the regular nine tonight against Gulf.

The Gulf Refining Company, a Commercial league team, has been playing good ball all this season in and out of their league and should give the Warren club plenty of trouble.

The Warren Company plays the Gainesville (Ga.) team on the Warren athletic field Thursday night at 8:30 o'clock.

Little Man Makes Sensational Comeback

Buster Chatham, wee shortstopper of the Crackers, is the leading player in his position past the half-way mark of the Southern league season. Chatham is playing his best baseball for the Crackers in his fifth season with the club. He is hitting above .300 and is second in runs batted in. He has driven an even 50 runners home. Many thought Chatham had seen his better days, but the Little Man has staged a remarkable comeback. Staff photo by George Cornett.

Daniel Duplicates Sarazen's 'Eagle'

AUGUSTA, Ga., July 6.—(AP) A 250-yard drive followed by a 200-yard No. 3 iron shot which trickled into the cup, today placed Dick Daniel, young Augusta golfer, in the same class with Gene Sarazen. Daniel bagged a "double-eagle" on the difficult Hill course of the Augusta Country Club.

Playing in a threesome, young Daniel, a student at the Citadel in Charleston, holed out in two on the par five eighth hole, the only other golf rarity to have been made in Augusta besides the one with which Sarazen startled the nation in the masters' tournament of 1935.

Daniel was tuning up for the Georgia state amateur tournament which opens in Atlanta next Tuesday. His card today showed 36-39—75, three over par for the 18.

Nationals Promise To 'Shoot Works' at Americans Today

ALL-STAR GAME APPEARS TOSSUP AT BOSTON PARK

Grove and Dean Expected To Be Mound Starters in Classic.

By Paul Michelson.

BOSTON, July 6.—(AP)—Baseball's team game, nothing but a horrible nightmare to the proud National League since it began three years ago, seems true again tomorrow with the diamond's shooting stars clustered about to wage a dramatic thriller before an anticipated sell-out throng of 2,000 at Boston National league park.

Embarrassed, ridiculed and defeated in every one of the three previous all-star encounters, the National League, headed by Charlie Grimm, of the championship Chicago Cubs, and afflicted with several bustling freshmen, were in belligerent mood as they awaited the call to battle at 12:30 p. m., Atlanta time.

"It may not be fair to say we haven't tried our best to win these all-star games in the past, retorted manager Grimm, "but I am confident we're going to have something sweet dream after this dream game tomorrow night. This all-star game started out to be an exhibition, but a serious business now with all of us. We're out to win and we'll shoot the works all the way."

MCCARTHY QUIET.
Joe McCarthy, pilot of the fast-flying New York Yankees and manager of the American league all-stars, left the prebattling statements to Grimm.

Joe sent word he didn't plan to arrive in Boston until tomorrow morning some time and that, anyway, he wouldn't announce his lineup until almost game time.

Except for the information that Vernon Kennedy, star young right-hander for the Chicago White Sox, had replaced Tommy Bridges, of Detroit, on his mound staff, McCarthy had no news to Boston, where the teams were all excited and ready for the big game. Illness forced Bridges out.

The best prevailing guess was that the Americans would put this starting lineup on the field: Appling, Chicago, shortstop; Gehring, Detroit, second base; DiMaggio, New York, right field; Gehrig, New York, first base; Averill, Cleveland, center field; Jockey, New York, catcher; Sokirk, New York, left field; Higgins, Philadelphia, third base, and Lefty Grove, Boston, pitcher.

Gehring and Higgins were almost expected to play the full game at their respective positions, with frequent substitutions at other points. Jimmy

Chess Players From Nine States Meet Here

and W. N. Woodberry, Birmingham. Standing, left to right, A. S. Harris, Savannah, secretary; Nestor Hernandez, defending champion from Tampa, and the tall gentleman, president for 15 years, Charles S. Roberts, of Jacksonville. Photo by George Cornett.

All Is Extremely Quiet On Dixie Chess Front

But Brains Are at Work; Nine States Represented in Big Tournament Here.

By Ralph McGill.

Put on a pair of gum shoes! Place fingers over the lips and say "shhhh" to yourself. You are then ready to visit the chess tournament which is raging at the rate of no miles per hour on top of the Atlanta hotel.

Yesterday a cat came stamping into the room and the lady and the gentlemen frowned. A sparrow chirped and the disorder caused the pieces to tremble in wrath on their boards.

The competitors look like competitors in the long distance sitting and staring championship. A chess game has less physical action than any other game. But the mental action is so fast and intense a camera can't catch it. The gears of the old brain whirl around so fast that smoke often may be seen curling off the heads of the contestants.

You—in your abysmal ignorance—may think that the chess fans are responsible for the origin of the word chess-nut. But not so.

Compared with chess, other games are just newcomers on the scene. No one knows who originated the game. Some say King Solomon invented it and taught it to his wives to keep them busy nights while he went out to lodge meetings. Others say Xerxes was the boy.

BACK IN 1350.
This they know: A chess board was found in the tomb of the late Tut-Ank-Amen, who shuffled off this mortal coil in 1350 B. C. It's an ancient game. And it's based on army tactics. The phrase "check" and "mate" come from the Arabic and "The King Is Dead" is the shout of the victor.

The southern chess tournament has attracted entries from nine states. They are in Atlanta for the tournament from Massachusetts, New York, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Georgia, Florida and Alabama.

The defending champion is Nestor Hernandez, of Tampa, Fla. He has won the last three tournaments and 8 of the last 15 competitions. His cups at his home in Tampa would fill one room were they all massed together.

He was born at Key West, Fla., and his father was a chess player and taught him the game when he was eight years old. He has played exhibitions—and lost—with the great Jose Capablanca, who was one of the great ones from Havana.

ONE LADY MEMBER.
The club has one lady member, Mrs. John Harrison, from Macon, Ga. Charles S. Roberts, of Jacksonville, is president and has been for 15 years. And A. S. Harris, of Savannah, is secretary, having served as long as Mr. Roberts.

The Massachusetts entry is Ward M. P. Mitchell, of Boston. New York is represented by Nelson J. Hogener.

The tournament will go on all this week. Paul Donohoo, Atlanta's famous blind corner and mental wizard, is one of the popular players. The contestants must make 40 moves in two hours or be disbanded. They must move any piece they touch or suffer a penalty.

The champion will be decided at some late hour Saturday night—or maybe at an early hour Sunday. If you have gum shoes and know how to keep your mouth closed quite tight—go up and see the matches. They are interesting.

BUSTER CHATHAM CLASS OF LEAGUE

a fielding percentage of .960, which is unusually good at that position.

HITTING 312.
Chatham's bat has been a potent factor in the champion's advance. He is hitting .312 and is second in runs batted in. He has driven exactly 50 runners across the plate.

Moore tried Chatham in the lead-off position for a time and Buster did very well. But he preferred to bat seventh and so was returned to that position.

Buster Chatham, as the fans well know, has played his best ball in the tight spots this year. He has saved many a situation with brilliant stops and throws.

There's no shortstop in the league that can match him on stops and throws from deep short. Nor is there a shortstop that can cover the ground back of second to take potential hits and throw runners out at first.

Chatham never wastes a second once he gets his hands on the ball. He necessarily throws off balance at times, but the amazing part of it is that seldom does he draw Alex Hooks off the bag.

Buster is a veritable machine on double plays. And when he goes skipping back of second, scoops up a drive, and wheels the ball underhand

OLYMPIC HEADS ASK DONATIONS

NEW YORK, July 6.—(UP)—American Olympic officials appealed to the nation tonight for funds to make up a $150,000 deficit as team members began raising money privately—one girl track star pawned her engagement ring—for the trip to Berlin next week.

The shortage, it was learned, has been caused by failure of many former contributors to support the fund as they have in the past and by a boycott campaign carried on by those objecting to American participation in Germany because of Nazi persecution of Jews.

Many of the minor teams already have been cut. The women's track and field team, for example, has been pared from 17 to 4 members.

State 'Y' Tourneys Slated for Athens

ATHENS, Ga., July 6.—Athens will be host to Y. M. C. A. swimming, diving and ping-pong teams from all parts of Georgia July 15, when the annual state "Y" meets are scheduled to be held here.

Savannah captured the swimming and diving titles last summer in Savannah, while Columbus dominated the ping-pong tournaments, capturing both the senior and junior titles. Athens won in the midget division.

TORRANCE TREATED.

PHILADELPHIA, July 6.—(UP) Jack Torrance, holder of the world's shotput record and chief United States hope in the summer Olympic weight events, underwent treatment today in Osteopathic hospital here for an arm and back injury.

To first—one has seen poetry of motion that only a movie camera could record.

D. B. WARNELL AGREES TO SEEK RE-ELECTION

Friends Pay Bryan Representative's Fee; County Site Is Issue.

PEMBROKE, Ga., July 6.—D. B. Warnell, Bryan county member of the general assembly, today qualified as a candidate for re-election after friends had paid his entry fee and he agreed, at their insistence, to make the race. Mr. Warnell made it clear that he did not desire to run but was making the sacrifice at the urgent request of his friends.

Dr. W. K. Smith has already qualified to run for the post. The people of Bryan county recently voted to move the county site from Clyde to Pembroke and the election is now being contested before the supreme court. It is the understanding here that if the court should set aside the election, Mr. Warnell would straighten the matter out at the next assembly session.

BUSINESS BOOMS IN ROME SECTION

All Plants Running at Full Blast; Several More To Be Built.

ROME, Ga., July 6.—The announcement of an expansion program for the Tubize-Chattillon plant here to cost approximately $2,000,000, the re-entry of the State Mutual Insurance Company into the life insurance field, and the moving of the Fox Manufacturing Company from Atlanta to Rome are three events giving a great impetus to Rome business.

That Rome is destined to have its greatest year seems certain. Each one of the some 35 industrial plants here is running at full capacity and on multiple shifts.

Building permits for the year are now running ahead of those of last year with prospects of several large pieces of construction being started in addition to the Tubize-Chattillon plant and the Fox Company.

Rome merchants report increased retail trade despite the seasonal decrease, which has not come to pass this year.

SPARTA, Ga., July 6.—(AP)—Vinton Boyer, negro slayer of a Sparta policeman, heard the death sentence pronounced today for the second time. He is to die July 24 in the electric chair at the state prison in Milledgeville.

Boyer's conviction was upheld recently by the state supreme court. Judge J. B. Park, 83-year-old presiding jurist of the Ocmulgee superior court circuit, in passing sentence today, commented "The people of Hancock county are to be congratulated in co-operating with the court in having a fair and orderly trial." He told the defendant he had been "duly and legally convicted, as provided by the laws of Georgia, and that he was sentenced to die in the electric chair for the crime of homicide under the influence of liquor."

"I am satisfied that the cause of your crime is due to the fact that you and others in the automobile at the time of the homicide were under the influence of liquor."

BIGGEST TOBACCO CROP EXPECTED IN GEORGIA

Stands Turning Out Well Despite Earlier Drouth and Hailstorms.

ATHENS, Ga., July 6.—(AP)—Crop reports from south Georgia today told of a bright outlook for tobacco, one of the chief money crops in that region.

County agents in tobacco belt counties, and others familiar with conditions there, say the crop turned out well, despite early-season dry weather, and hail damage in some areas.

Some counties reported prospects for even greater yields than last year, when the Georgia crop totaled 71,826,352 pounds, and brought a total of $13,582,912 into this state. The 1935 average was 18.91 cents a pound.

Among counties where the 1935 crop is expected to be exceeded, are Turner, Tift, Jeff Davis, Brantley and Camden. Crops as good or almost as good as last year are expected in a number of other counties.

J. D. Rogers, of Pelham, director of the Georgia-Florida Tobacco Association, said recently that the condition of the crop warranted the prediction that the 1936 crop would be one of the best ever grown in Georgia.

Mrs. Little was a bridesmaid in the wedding of the bride's mother. The bride and groom stood before an improvised altar banked with palms and ferns, interspersed with lilies, where the vows were taken.

The bride was attired in a white tulle sheer ensemble with royal blue accessories. Her flowers were a shoulder spray of sweetheart roses and lilies of the valley. ## Emily Evins Will Make Debut With 1936-37 Local Coterie

By Sally Forth.

EMILY EVINS has decided to join the 1936-37 debutante ranks and make her bow to society in the same coterie with Robin Peeples, one of her closest friends. She is the attractive blond daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel N. Evins and graduated from Washington Seminary, where she was invited to join the O. B. X. Club. After receiving her diploma at the seminary, Emily enrolled at Gunston Hall in Washington, D. C., and completed her education last June.

Emily is noted for her clever repartee, her vivacity and charm of manner. She possesses a literary flair that is quite remarkable for such a young girl, and has done some exceedingly good work. Aside from her charms and other accomplishments, Emily is regarded as an expert equestrian.

At the moment, Emily is sojourning at Highlands, where her parents have a summer home that is always filled to overflowing with congenial groups of friends of the Evins family. She is a descendant of aristocratic South Carolina families whose ancestors long have been prominent in the social annals of the state.

LITTLE Marion Calhoun Cardwell is making her first visit to Atlanta since her advent upon this terrestrial sphere several weeks ago. She accompanied her mother, Mrs. Bickerton Cardwell, and her grandmother, Mrs. Phinny Calhoun, to the city. The trio arrived yesterday to the delight of their legion of friends who are anxiously awaiting permission to look upon the baby.

Little Marion was born in Alexandria, Va., the home of the immortal George Washington. Her father, Bickerton Cardwell, is a highly esteemed member of the faculty of the Episcopal High school and is fairly idolized by the boys enrolled under his supervision. The infant daughter of the Bickerton Cardwells is the third generation to bear the name of Marion. It is the given name of her pretty young mother and her attractive maternal grandmother.

ATLANTA friends of Colonel and Mrs. Hugh Parker were happily surprised Sunday when they arrived in Atlanta. The pair lived here for several years while the colonel was detailed with the army corps headquarters. During their residence here they made a wide circle of friends with members of civilian society. They frequently entertained prominent Atlantans with members of the military set stationed here at that time.

Since their departure from Atlanta, Colonel and Mrs. Parker have resided in California, where they maintain an attractive home at Santa Monica. They stopped in Atlanta en route from Florida, where they spent the past month motoring through that state. Informal luncheons and dinners are already planned for the Parkers by their Atlanta friends, who will bid them adieu with sincere regret the latter part of the week when they will resume their motor trip to the Pacific coast.

Friendly Counsel

By CAROLINE CHATFIELD. Problems of general interest submitted by readers will be treated in this column. Correspondence invited. Write in confidence. Write Miss Chatfield, care The Atlanta Constitution.

Dear Miss Chatfield: I am 21, in love with a dream man that I have never met. He works with my brother in the cotton business. My brother writes about him continually, his good morals, his good looks, his good characteristics and I have fallen in love with the picture. My father says my loving ideal is keeping me from enjoying the home town boys. I am sure they are right for I am always comparing those I meet with him. The boys I go with seem childish and silly or snooty and fast, or dumb and inexperienced. Every boy can't be defective so the fault must be with me but I am not having any fun with them and am not willing to stay at home by myself. What do you think of me? I. W.

Answer: I think you are childish and silly and snooty and inexperienced to let yourself go for a far-away phantom when flesh and blood boys are at hand. Snap out of it, date the home town boys and in the meantime you might ask your brother to give you a letter introduction to his friend. You may manage to conduct a campaign that will issue in courtship and since your brother has passed on the good character of the man in question, you can feel quite safe that you are not being taken in.

I know of a happily married couple who got together in this way. Two girls were roommates at college. Alice, the bride, had a correspondent back in her home town and when she answered his letters she would call her and use a postscript. Soon those postscripts were answered with letters and in no time a hot correspondence had developed between Sue and the boy back at Alice's home. The couple met at Alice's home and they were engaged to be married when the young man first saw Sue in the flesh. Pictures and letters had done the trick. They were perfectly satisfied, married and are living happily together, to this day.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield: I work in an office with a father and son (the father is European) and I have had a funny experience. The father has asked me several times if I liked his son and he has said he thought I would make him a good wife because I had a quiet, hard-working girl. But the son says nothing, he only looks at me. I do like him but I don't want to give myself away until I know he has taken a fancy to me. Your summer courtship is please tell me what to say. M. P.

Answer: Papa being European, he is attempting to arrange a marriage for his son but if son was born in America there is scant chance of his accepting papa's choice unless he happens to come in it. The best thing for you to do is to answer the question by asking another one: "Does your son like me?" If papa says "yes," then you may say "yes" to him. If he answers "no," you may tell him that in America this settles the matter. If he answers "I don't know," you suggest that he find out before he questions you further.

By this method you will indicate to papa that you are not only quiet and industrious but too clever to play your late card without good and sufficient reason.

CAROLINE CHATFIELD.

Dear Miss Chatfield: While visiting my cousin last summer I met and fell in love with a boy in her town. He asked me to marry him then and there and keep it secret but I preferred to wait until I graduated in June next. Well, when I returned home my cousin played up to this boy and managed to date him every night in the week. She has decided that she is quite old enough to get married and she chose him because he makes a fat salary. He began to court toward me. He stopped coming and then stopped writing. Today I received a letter telling me that he expects to be married to her. I don't want to make a fool of myself. What shall I do and say? How shall I treat my cousin? I don't think the boy is worth bothering about.

Answer: The best way for you to treat your cousin is as nearly as possible as you have always treated her. She couldn't have sidetracked the young man unless he had been willing to be sidetracked, and there isn't any justice in visiting your displeasure over her exclusivity. The only way you can save your pride is to wish them well and to be secretly glad that the fickle fiancée found his fate in some other than you. Your summer courtship was too swift and too short to stand the test of time and separation. The vacation didn't take. No man wants to create you and falls in love with another girl is worth worrying about and you are to be congratulated on your good sense and your self-control in marking him off with this notation.

Trio of Attractive New Yorkers Feted During Visit

Mrs. Wallace Zachry, of New York, is pictured with her two young daughters, Charlotte, at the left, and Mary Anne. The trio is receiving much social attention as the guests of Mrs. Zachry's brother and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Matthews, on Eleventh street. She is the former Miss Mary Matthews, of Atlanta, and is also the sister of Mr. and Mrs. Watson Matthews. Staff photo by Kenneth Rogers.

ON BOARD U. S. S. POTOMAC, Sunday—I was up early enough for a swim in the pool at the Farmington Country Club yesterday morning. We were all delighted to find the sun shining and the lovely Blue Ridge mountains looming up in the distance through a slight haze. At 9:15 we started for Monticello, and found many of our party had never seen the house before. Of course, I wanted to act as guide and take them sight-seeing at once. No other house is as interesting to me as this one, because Thomas Jefferson had such a creative, versatile mind and expressed it in a thousand little ways in the planning of this house, which was, I am sure, one of his chief diversions. I can never quite understand his aversion to having a staircase anywhere in sight. He evidently thought they took up too much space and were not decorative. I wonder how anything was ever carried up those cramped little stairs in the wings at Monticello. Perhaps he was waiting till he found a staircase designed to satisfy his fastidious tastes. On leaving Charlottesville we drove to Richmond through the city and down to the wharf, where we bade our kind Virginia hosts goodbye. We started down the river at once, and we all discovered simultaneously that we were very hungry. Breakfast seemed lost in the dim and distant past.

In the afternoon I sat on deck and read undisturbed for two solid hours. Martha Gellhorn's book won't be out till next autumn. It is called "The Trouble I've Seen." It is well written, almost too well written, if you want to preserve a sense of satisfaction with things as they are. This is the first night I have spent on board the U. S. S. Potomac. When President Hoover gave up the old "Mayflower" many people were sorry, but in many ways this ship seems to me far more practical for the use of the President. In the first place, she does not draw very much, so she can be taken into the smaller rivers and away from the main ship channels. She is seaworthy and has no fancy decorations. Everywhere there is gray navy paint, which makes her look like a real navy ship inside and out.

of hearts to dummy. West was asleep at the switch! He ducked, dummy's queen won, and now the ace of spades was cashed while declarer discarded his king of hearts. The dummy's hand was easily ruffed out, and eventually two trump tricks conceded for the contract's fulfillment.

West should have "smelled the rat" in the duck of the spade, and immediately lead to the hearts in dummy, but his was a play that tens of thousands of players would make. He did not know, of course, that his partner had the club king and, therefore, could not see whence his necessary three tricks were coming. But even so, he should have realized that there was a good reason for declarer failing to discard immediately on the spade ace, and only a little imagination was required to divine the object.

TODAY'S QUESTION. Question: Should I open the bidding with East and South? Spades: K J 10 x x x x; hearts: none; diamonds: A x x; clubs: x x. Answer: Bid four clubs, a little shaded if vulnerable, and the bid should be avoided if opponents are quick.

By FRANK MacMILLAN.
NEW YORK, July 6.—(AP).—Selective advances helped to strengthen the stock market for a time today but the blight was on the stocks.

While business news on the whole had its pleasing aspects, adverse implications were seen in the serious midwest drouth and in possibilities of a major steel strike.

Several department store shares took a turn for the better as retail sales appeared to be expanding briskly. Heavy holiday traffic failed to impress most rails because of the question whether the increase in travel would offset the increase in operating costs.

The motors were in demand for a while as June sales were estimated at the best level for that month since 1929. Chrysler went into new high ground for the past 6 years but fell back later.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues was off .5 of a point at 63.5 against a recovery of .4 last Friday.

Transfers totaled 844,220 shares compared with 1,020,180 shares in the previous session.

Among gainers of as much as a point or so were American Power & Light 6 per cent preferred at 73 1-4. Public Service of New Jersey 6 per cent preferred at 72 1-4.

Edison at 37 5-8, Douglas Aircraft at 61 1-2, Loew's at 49 3-4, and Atlantic Gulf & West Indies at 24.

included United States Steel at 583-8-8, Bethlehem at 48 1-2, Chrysler at 1112 7-8, General Motors at 68 3-8, American Telephone at 166 1-2, Deere at 72, International Harvester at 81, Santa Fe at 75, Northern Pacific at 24 5-6, and Great Northern at 36.

Muviro was the bravest of the brave. Countless times he had fought by Tarzan's side, stoically ignoring a painful wound; but now that the stalwart warrior was in the forest toward a strange new world of unknown perils.

After a quick journey to Nairobi, Major Martling went into the city to make preparations for sailing next day. But Tarzan remained at the edge of the forest. The Jungle Lord did not like the ways of civilized men, nor of the prisons which they called cities.

Whistling cheerily, Major Martling went to his hotel. He had every right to be happy. At last he was on the trail of the fabulous Green Goddess. His translation of the ancient Mayan inscription disclosed the exact location of the Lost City. And of the precious document. . .

His cheery thoughts were stopped short by the sight of a shadowy figure, which sprang suddenly from his own room, raced across the veranda, leaped the balustrade, and vanished into the luxuriant garden. With a cry of alarm, Martling dashed off in quick pursuit.

HUMAN RIDDLES

That Have Vexed the World

By VINCENT TOWNE.

EMPEROR CATHERINE I—WHO WAS SHE?
 Early in the eighteenth century an illiterate girl with the figure and bearing of a peasant, but a good nature and charm that made her irresistible to men, resided in the home of Prince Menshikov, the favorite of Czar Peter the Great.

The Czar, visiting the prince in 1703, met this mysterious creature, fell desperately in love with her at first sight and took her from his subject. Marthia—her name was—soon became so indispensable to the ruler of her land that he found it a torment to be separated from her, and henceforth throughout his life she was his inseparable companion, even during his military campaigns. She shared the troubles and fatigues of his various wars, calmed the wild outbreaks of his savage temper, and during his Caspian campaigns she was obliged to shear off her beautiful hair that she might endure the fierce rays of the sun. During his disastrous campaign in Turkey, when he faced the alternative of starving on the banks of the Pruth or of ignominiously surrendering his army, Marthia cleverly saved him by bribing the Turkish general with her jewels.

For his sake she adopted the Greek creed, and with it the name
 Catherine Alexievna. Two years after she had borne him a daughter—which, in her honor, he named Catherine—the Czar privately married her, whereafter she presented him with another daughter, Anna, later the Duchess of Holstein-Gottorp, mother of Peter III, and in 1709 a third child, Elizabeth, who lived to be Empress of Russia.

Although secretly married to Catherine, Peter the Great already had a lawful wife, the Czarina Eudoxia. But he divorced his consort in 1711 and afterward publicly acknowledged Catherine as his wife. In 1718 he declared her his empress, and in 1722 proclaimed her his successor to the throne—to the exclusion of the little Grand Duke Peter, his six-year-old son by his divorced wife. As empressconsort, Peter had Catherine crowned at Moscow in 1724, her crown worn during the ceremony being studded with 2,564 precious stones and surmounted by a ruby as large as a pi-geon's egg supporting a cross of brilliants. On the eve of her coronation she was threatened with ruin by an intrigue between her and her gentleman-of-the-bedchamber, William Moens.

Although believing her to be innocent, Peter had Moens' head lopped off and placed in her apartment presented by a jar of alcohol, where it might warn her of the fate that would befall any of her future rivals. At the same time Moens' sister was cruelly flogged and his two sons sent away to Persia. When shown the head of her alleged cavalier, Catherine asserted calmly:

"What a pity the people of the court are so corrupt!"

Whether Catherine was guilty or innocent of this intrigue, history has never been able to agree, but in spite of the scandal she strengthened her position with Peter to the extent that the Archbishop of Pskov declared under oath to the people and to his army that Peter upon his death bed had designated Catherine as his successor. So the people of Russia gave their allegiance to her, and she, who had never ruled over them, became the ruler of Russia.

Who Catherine I was she herself, perhaps, never knew. Her mother was undoubtedly a serf, but as to the identity of her father there are several theories. One is that he was a Baltic nobleman, Colonel Rosten; another that he was a small Catholic yeoman of Lithuanian stock, Samuel Skovronsky, who died of the plague while she was a baby. According to a third account, she was the daughter of a Swedish quartermaster, John Rabe.

Perhaps not even her mother knew which of these theories was correct.
 At any rate, the child was left an orphan in the village of Lavonia, where she was taken care of first by the sexton of the place and later by a Protestant clergyman named Gluck, superintendent of Marienburg, who educated her with his children, but whose wife endeavored to rid herself of Marthia by marrying her off to a Swedish dragon, one Johan.

After the capture of Marienburg, Marthia and Johan became forever separated, and with the family of Parson Gluck, she was made a captive by a Russian general, who, although he treated the old clergyman kindly, retained all the women of his spoils. He allotted Marthia, then a girl of 17, to General Bauer, whose mistress she remained until ceded to Prince Menshikov.

Such was the history of the most enigmatical woman who ever sat upon a European throne.

Barbara Bell Patterns

1915-B

DOUBLE-DUTY FROCK FOR AVERAGE WOMAN.

If you're looking for a really smart make, you'll adore this jaunty model which bids for an invitation to the golf links, the tennis courts, or a stroll downtown.

Look at the novel shoulder-strap closing! Slip into the frock, button it up in a jiffy and there you are—all set. It's an answer to you love of change, too, for you can fashion it as an apron tied at the shoulders with bows and held together at the waist by a self fabric or leather belt.

The design is simplicity with becoming features. It's grand for young things, to look both prim and tantalizing, and grand for mothers for its lines also bespeak staidness and poise.

 is available for size 14, 16, 18, 20;
 40 and 42. Size 16 requires 3 yards
